iQmetrix®

CO-OP INTEGRATIONS DEVELOPER

(40 HOURS/WEEK)

Work with one of the fastest growing companies with great teams using cutting-edge technologies and development practices. iQmetrix is a global organization that exists to create great experiences for our customers, our employees, and the greater community. As a company we promote and support learning and growth in all aspects of our employees' lives.

We're looking for co-ops who love to solve problems and are willing to work hard to learn new things. No matter what term you may be in, don't hesitate to apply now!

ABOUT

iQmetrix is a software development company that develops and supports a suite of retail management software. The Integrations team is responsible for integrating iQmetrix software with third party services. These third party services provide extra value to customers who are served by retailers using our software. Some examples of third party services that we integrate with include:

- AppleCare Protection
- Phobio Trade-in
- TIO Bill Pay

OPPORTUNITY

As a co-op software developer you will have the opportunity to truly be part of the Integrations team at iQmetrix. Together we will be responsible for working with these third party services and our partners to create software solutions. Working with our partners entails dealing with each one's own API and how it can be manipulated to work with our code base and our RESTful web services.

TOOLS

The set of tools that we use is growing all the time. However, some of the tools we use on a regular basis include:

- Visual Studio with ReSharper – C# .NET
- Git and GitHub
- TFS
- Microsoft SQL Server Management Studio